

MSPAS Updated Learning Outcomes 2017

1. Demonstrate medical knowledge through the synthesis of pathophysiology, patient presentation, differential diagnosis, patient management, surgical principles, health promotion, and disease prevention.
2. Demonstrate core knowledge about established and evolving biomedical and clinical sciences and the application of this knowledge to patient care.
3. Demonstrate an investigative and analytic thinking approach to clinical situations.
4. Demonstrate making decisions about diagnostic and therapeutic interventions based on patient information and preferences, current scientific evidence, and informed clinical judgment
5. Apply principles of scientific inquiry in research, critical analysis of literacy, and current practices to build the foundation for self and practice improvement and lifelong learning habits in their professional career.
6. Locate, appraise, and integrate evidence from scientific studies related to their patients' health
7. Apply knowledge of study designs and statistical methods to the appraisal of clinical literature
8. Demonstrate the use of effective communication skills to elicit and provide information
9. Apply compassionate and respectful behaviors when interacting with patients and their families
10. Demonstrate effective working relationships with physicians and other health care professionals, as a member or leader of a health care team or other professional group to provide patient-centered care
11. Demonstrate commitment to professional behaviors and practice & adhere to the standards of professionalism
12. Determine their limitations and seek consultation from senior healthcare clinicians they work with.
13. Accurately and adequately, document information regarding care for medical, legal, quality, and financial purposes
14. Demonstrate a high level of responsibility, ethical practice, sensitivity to a diverse patient population, and adherence to legal and regulatory requirement.